

One month Summer Training to the Final Semester students of College of Agricultural Engineering & Post Harvest Technology, Sikkim

Six students of final semester of College of Agricultural Engineering & Post Harvest Technology, Central Agricultural University, Sikkim has under gone one month training on different aspects of Agricultural Engineering under the supervision of Er. D. Daschadhuri from June 1-30, 2013. The training was imparted on Exposure & hand on surface, sub-surface & upper atmosphere observation at Meteorological Centre, India Meteorological Department, Agartala Airport, Exposure & hands on Doppler Weather observation at Doppler Radar Station under India Meteorological Department, Analysis of Doppler Weather Image, Data Analysis techniques under windows environment, Hands on Remote Sensing Images and uses of GPS in different field activities, Minor repairing of farm implements. The trainees had also been given an exposure to different crop models by Mr. R. S. Maitry, Scientist. Different institutions like, India Meteorological Department, Agartala, Tripura Space Application Centre, Agartala had extended their technical support by sharing experts and labs to the trainees.

